Communicationand Interpersonal Skills
New graduateswill be able to:
Communicateeffectivelywith patients, families, and health team members, incorporating cultural humility and compassion to build meaningful therapeutic and interprofessional relationships.
CIS1Useeffectivecommunicationskillsto elicit and provide information to patients, families, and health team members.
CIS2

Clinicaland TechnicalSkills

New graduateswill be able to:

Demonstratethe clinicaland technicals kills required to provide a geap propriate assessment, evaluation, and management of patients.

CTSI Conducteffective, patient-centered history-taking and physical examination for comprehensive and problem focused patient visits.

CTS2 Conveyaspectsof a patient encounterto all health care team membersthrough accurate and timely written and verbal communication.

PracticeBasedLearning

New graduateswill be able to:

Engage incritical analysis of one's own practies perience the medical literature, and other information resources for the purposes of selevaluation, lifelong learning, and clinical practice improvement.

PBL1Cultivatesourc96 528 467.4 37.319 re W n n009 Tw 12 e f 540.4 37.319QCn BT11.0